

Cut out this challenging
3-dimensional wolf puzzle.
Parental Supervision Advised.

You may find putting together this puzzle is as challenging as it is to change people's feelings toward wolves. Persistence and patience may be the key to success. Good luck.

INSTRUCTIONS:

- With great care and your parents supervision, cut carefully around the outside of each piece on the black line with a "hobby knife". As well, cut slits in the paper along the purple lines. Cut out the small "flap slits" on each flap.
- Once, all has been cut out and slit, fold on each black line, including each tab and flap.
- Begin assembling by folding each piece at the folds, and tucking in each tab in the corresponding flap slit. You may want to tape the tabs on the inside of each piece.
- When each piece is assembled, insert the "muzzle" piece on to the "head" piece. Place the "head" on the "body" piece. Then, insert the "ears" and the "tail".

Your finished wolf puzzle should look like this when complete.
